

GRAND WORTHY ADVISOR'S NEWSLETTER

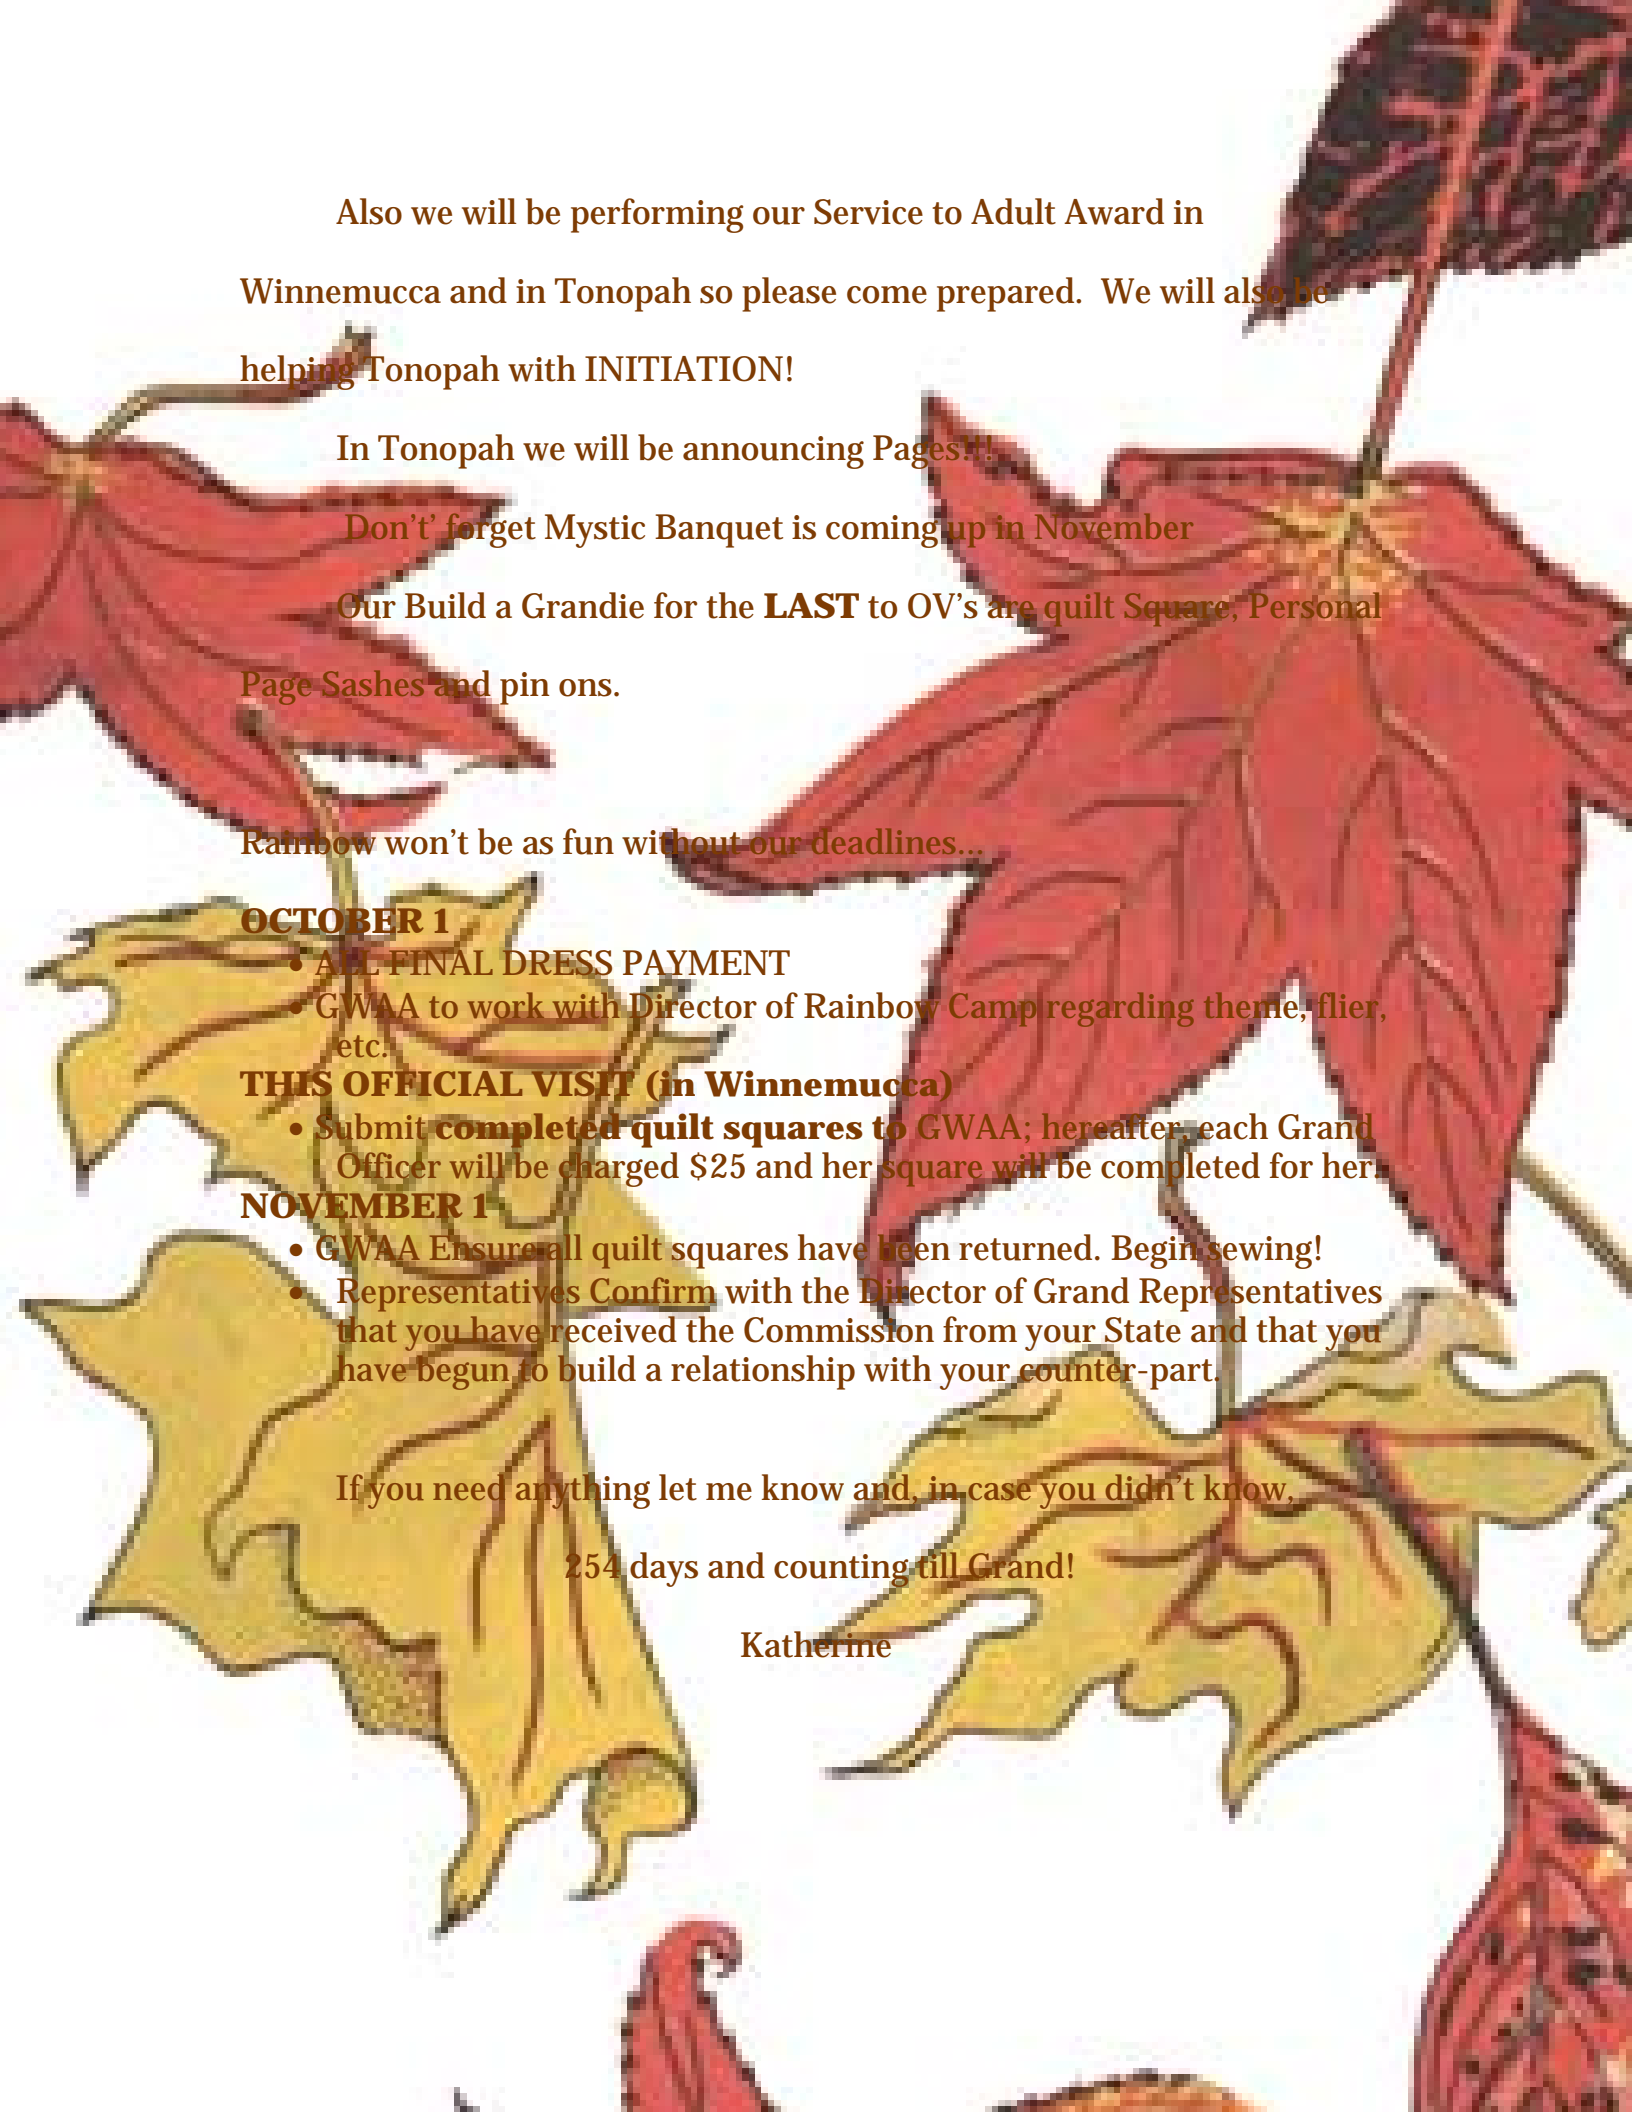

OCTOBER/NOVEMBER 2011

KATHERINE KIRK, GWA

As we say goodbye to warm nights summer, where anything is possible and say hello to fall. I can't help noticing the patterns that I have started to form: walking to class the same way everyday, doing laundry on Thursdays; buying the same things at the grocery store on Fridays and eating dinner at the same time. We all fall into patterns, but if we break those patterns life might just bring a smile to our faces. Walking a different way to class means we get to see other people that we don't always get to see. Doing our laundry on Tuesday might mean we get to watch a movie with our friends on Thursday. Going to the grocery store on a Wednesday, you never know but they might be giving out root beer floats to any one who donates a dollar to that month's charity. Eating dinner at a different time might mean spending some time with your roommates. The little things in life might just make this fall one to remember.

Just a few quick reminders!
